

Students Need Leaders. Set the Example.

Earn Your EdD in Education Leadership
Online with Alverno College in as Few as Two Years.

Whether teacher, counselor, or administrator, you are an educator because you are called to a deeper purpose. With Alverno College's innovative online EdD in Education Leadership, you can take advantage of convenient online study and dissertation support from your first day.

Integrate theory and practice as you learn executive-level skills for classroom innovation and administrative leadership. Choose from three concentrations and two doctoral completion options, All But Dissertation and EdS to EdD. We offer multiple programs designed for your individual success.

Three Concentrations: Each of our concentration options lets you customize your coursework to fit with your experience, interest, and career goals. Concentrations offered in:

K-12 Leadership: You will gain the expertise you need to serve as a strategic leader in public or private schools at the K-12 level. You can also develop skills for leadership at the district level with our additional course content and practicum designed to prepare you for a superintendent role.

Higher Education Leadership: Covering all aspects of institutional and educational leadership from accreditation to assessment, this option prepares you to serve in the ever-evolving higher education space.

Teaching and Learning in Higher Education: Gain advanced knowledge of instructional design, instructional delivery and assessment — plus insight into the needs of today's college students.

EdS to EdD Pathway: If you've earned your EdS, Alverno's EdS to EdD program allows you to apply 15 credits from your EdS towards your Doctor of Education.

EdD Dissertation Completion (ABD Option): If you've achieved All But Dissertation (ABD) status, Alverno offers you the EdD dissertation completion support you need to complete your doctoral work. In as few as two years of study, you can be ready to add "EdD" to your resume and list of accomplishments.
